A MORE RELAXING PACE...

Feel like you can't commit to a full course just yet? St Mark's offers selected individual subjects for study through Charles Sturt University, so you can choose to take it real slow. Each successful subject completion in the list below is creditable towards a Bachelor of Theology or a Graduate Diploma of Theology for eligible applicants. The subject can be completed online or on-campus.

Alternatively, you could attend a subject on-campus in Canberra as an auditor, where you will not be required to complete assessment tasks (and will therefore receive no credit towards other awards).

INTERESTED? You can discuss our flexible learning options in detail — just call 02 6272 6252 during office hours.

FLEXIBLE STUDY OPTIONS

AUDITING

Participate with no assessments

If you've always wanted to listen in on quality theological lectures but lack the time to finish assignments, then auditing is a great way to start your theological journey.

As an auditor, you get to participate in weekly lectures and class discussions as well as access St Mark's library resources. (A one-year membership worth $70 is included in the audit fee!) There are no entry requirements, and all lectures and classes are conducted in Canberra.

To enrol, see the back of this flyer for further details or call St Mark's on +612 6272 6252.

SINGLE SUBJECT STUDY

Full participation with credit

Single Subject Study gives you the flexibility and the credit, without the commitment of a full degree.

As a student, you get to access all subject materials and resources and gain access to CSU's Interact2 learning environment - so you can choose campus life, or study online from the comfort of your natural environment.

Best of all, these subjects require no prerequisites, prior knowledge or experience.

To enrol, see the back of this flyer for further details or call CSU on 1800 334 733.

EVENING CLASS

28 Feb to 30 May 2017 | Tuesdays 5:30pm to 8:00pm

SUBJECT	LECTURER
Introduction to the Old Testament (THL105/408) Offered as either undergraduate or postgraduate subject	Rev'd Dr Jeanette Mathews
This subject focuses on the amazing text both Jews and Christians know as inspired Scripture. Although collected in one book, the Old Testament is actually a collection of many types of literature: history and law, prophecy and wisdom, narrative and poetry. These scriptures attest to real communities living out their faith over a long period, so there are different theological perspectives offered that we examine. Despite that diversity, there is an overarching unity to the Old Testament focused on God's revelation through creation, 'saving acts' and words. Opening the Old Testament is like taking a trip to a foreign land, where the languages, customs, cultures, food, geography, and just about everything else we can imagine is different from what we know. This subject provides skills for understanding that world, known to us primarily through the Old Testament texts themselves and archaeological evidence. By going behind the texts, carefully examining the texts themselves, and bringing our own questions and experience to the texts, we will explore the fascinating relationship between these ancient texts and contemporary faith.

DAYTIME SUBJECTS

We offer other subjects for auditing and single subject study during weekdays. These classes run from 9:30am to 12:30pm, and are available on-campus in Canberra and online.

- THL131: Rise of Christianity to 600CE (Tuesday mornings)
- THL111: Introduction to Christian Theology (Wednesday mornings)
- THL115: Liturgical Theology (Thursday mornings)

For more information about these subjects, visit our website. To enrol, you can refer to the back of this flyer for further details. Closing date: Monday 6 March.
